Minden taxes up to meet county and education needs

Margie Newton and Mike Iles were named athletes of the year at Haliburton Highlands High School during the annual awards banquet held May 27 at the Legion. Seen here with their coaches, Kit Pizzey and Gary Brohman, the young athletes were among many honoured during the end of the year dinner and presentation. More details and pictures on page seven.

An increase in Anson, Hindon and Minden taxes for 1980 was announced at the May 28 meeting of township council. The increase, 24.5 mills for residential ratepayers and 41.5 for commercial, is a result of an increase in requirements for the county and the board of education. The municipal mill rate has remained the same as last year.

The mill rate for residential taxpayers was struck at 380.839. This compares with 356.318 in 1979. For commercial assessment, the mill rate has jumped from 406.460 in 1979 to 448.047.

The members of the township council stressed that the increase in taxes could not be traced to municipal sources but rather could be attributed to a hike in county requirements and the funds requested by the County Board of Education. The county request was up 1.3 mills for residential ratepayers and 1.6 for commercial. The education increase is 23.1 mills for residential taxpayers and 39.8 for commercial.

The taxes will raise $869,164 for general municipal purposes in the township, compared with $809,644 last year and $755,634 in 1978. Despite the increased expenditure of close to $60,000 for municipal purposes the tax level has not been raised. The extra funds will come mostly in the form of grants from the provincial government.

For example, the municipality will be receiving an additional $9,000 in general support grants from the province and a boost of close to $20,000 in the resource equalization grant. Other increases include a budgeted $17,000 increase in Ministry of Transportation and Communications support for municipal streets and roads and an increase of close to $11,000 from the province for ambulance services.

Interestingly, the municipality's share of the county support has dropped in dollar terms from $111,993 in 1979 to an estimated $104,721. Despite this decrease in the funds required by the county, the mill rate which reflects that requisition, has increased.

According to municipal clerk Elinor Burke, this seeming contradiction is due to a change in the distribution of provincial grants.

School board expenditures have jumped from $524,792 last year to an estimated $602,513 in 1980. This increase is reflected in the mill rate hike for education purposes.

The total amount to be raised from Anson, Hindon and Minden taxpayers for municipal, county and education purposes for 1979 is $1,576,589.

Where the taxes come from and how they are spent...see page 5.

Where it goes

The largest portion of the municipal budget is spent on transportation services with $291,875 ear-marked for that section alone. Of that amount roadways takes the largest chunk with $275,075 being budgeted for maintaining township roads. The 1980 budget for roadway work is less than $1000 above the amount spent last year.

Culture and recreation activities in the township claim the next largest portion of the 1980 budget with $176,455 allotted to that sector. That figure is almost equally split between parks and recreation which receives $81,255 this year, and the Minden Recreation Department, which will receive $95,200.

The cultural and recreation budget of $81,255 is an increase of $35,000 over last year. An amount of $30,000 has been included in this portion of the budget for capital work, the construction of the new library. As well, the recreation department budget shows a $22,000 increase over last year with sizeable increases being noted for salaries, and an $8000 capital outlay on improvements to the arena.

Water rates jump 50%

Water and sewer rates in Minden will be going up shortly.

The township council approved an increase of 50 percent at the May 28 meeting.

According to the township clerk, Elinor Burke, the water and sewer department of the municipality is currently running a $31,000 deficit. She told the councillors that the water rates had not been increased since 1978 and that if the council wished to eliminate the present deficit position it would have to double the present rates.

The councillors reacted sharply to this suggestion. Deputy Reeve Doug Pritchard stated that there would be "a lot of beefing" by Minden residents if the rates were doubled. Councillor Len Lonsberry said doubling the rates would have a serious impact on those residents living on fixed incomes.

The clerk pointed out that if the rates are not raised to eliminate the deficit, the extra money needed by the water and sewer department will have to be raised through taxation. It was a question of raising the rates or raising the mill rate she pointed out.

Councillor Stuart Brandon said that the council may be able to "sneak by the taxpayers" by only increasing the water rates by half this year, but the money to cover the deficit will still have to be raised by the municipality.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt commented that the council should not have allowed the water and sewer department to build up such a large deficit. He noted that it had taken the municipality five years to reach this deficit position and that it would take a few years to put the department back in the black.

The clerk pointed out that the water reservoir and extensions to existing lines had caused the extra costs.

In the end the councillors decided to raise the water rates by 50 percent this year. (Rates for sewer service are tied to those charged for water services.) The council indicated that rates will probably have to be raised next year in an attempt to eliminate the deficit position of the department.

Hatkoski in All Ontario meet

Mike Hatkoski of Minden will carry the Haliburton Highlands banner into the All Ontario Games this weekend in Toronto.

Mike was the only athlete from the local high school to qualify for the games which will draw participants from throughout the province. Mike will be competing in the junior javelin.

He earned the right to participate in the games by finishing fifth in that event at regional finals held Saturday in Trenton. He is the only one of five who attended the regional games to have qualified for the province-wide competition.

Council backs swimmers - last year for Red Cross

The municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden has agreed to once again support the Red Cross swimming program at Twelve Mile Lake. However, according to the organizer for the local Red Cross group, Eleanor Hall, this could be the last year the society will be involved in the program.

The grant approval came at the May 28 meeting of township council following a presentation by Mrs. Hall. She told the council that the national Red Cross organization has been putting pressure on the local group to withdraw from the learn to swim program. She said the purpose of the society in the community is to promote awareness of safe water practices and not the actual teaching of swimming.

Hall told the meeting that in most other communities the learn to swim programs were co-ordinated by the municipal recreation departments. "This will be the last year the Red Cross will hold swimming classes," she told the meeting.

Over 100 children participated in last year's program.

This year the swim program will cover seven weeks including the regular four week session for beginning swimmers. Bus services to the beach on Twelve Mile Lake will be provided for the students.

In the remaining three weeks programs of senior instruction, adult learn to swim classes and mom and tots swimming will be held. No bus service will be available for the last three weeks.

Fees for the learn to swim classes for children have increased this year to help cover increased costs. The four week program will now cost $12 per child or $30 for a family of three or more. No fees have been set for the other

Tax discount discontinued

Discounts for those who pay their taxes before a certain date have been eliminated in Anson, Hindon and Minden Township. The decision to do away with the two percent savings was taken at the May 28 meeting of the council.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt told the meeting that the discount was being discontinued because the rebate represents giving back money that already belongs to the taxpayers. He noted that for

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Haliburton Highlands
the heart of getaway country

With our major tourist season just around the corner the Chamber has been able to secure two dates for Hospitality Seminars just in time to get you and your staff on your toes for the months ahead. These Seminars are similar to the ones presented by the Ministry of Industry and Tourism last year under the "We Treat You Royally" campaign. They run a full day and the only cost is $3.50 for lunch. Anyone dealing with the public should attend and will certainly beneft through not only lectures but acting out various situations that may occur in their job.

Last year we offered five separate seminars while this year there will be only two. No more than 30 can be accommodated at either session so we therefore ask you to register in advance by calling the Chamber office at 286-1760 to be assured of being allowed to participate.

The first seminar will be held at Mr. Fogg's in "downtown" Carnarvon on Tuesday, June 24th from 1:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Wig-A-Mog Inn will host the second one on Wednesday, June 25. Don't put it off - reserve a spot for you and your staff today.

Stanhope Air Show

Once again the Stanhope Airport Committee have outdone themselves in arranging an excellent show on Sunday, June 15 starting off with a giant Beef Barbeque at 11:00 a.m. Exciting performances by the Canadian Forces Voo Doos, Toronto Parachute Club, Glider pilots and the Canadian War Plane Heritage will highlight an afternoon of continuous action. Programs with specific details are available at the Chamber office for further information.

Spectators are also welcome to drop in on Saturday, June 14 to watch rehearsals taking place for Sunday's features.

Kinsmen Home Show

Pat Kennedy tells us there are still a number of booths available for the Kinsmen Home and Cottage Show, at the Haliburton Arena and Curling Rink for June 20, 21 and 22. This annual event has proven to be a real winner since it began and provides an excellent opportunity for business men throughout the area to meet the public and present their story.

The Chamber enthusiastically supports the efforts of the Kinsmen with this event, since it helps to keep expenditures for building and improvements within the county. To continue to be successful it will, however, require the support of those it has intended to help.

Topo Map Price Increase

The Chamber has for several years carried an assortment of topographical Maps covering Haliburton County. These maps have retailed for $1.50 each, but we have now received notice that effective immediately that price is increased to $2.50. Since we have some maps in stock we will hold the old price of $1.50 until June 15, following which the increase will take effect. If you have been thinking about purchasing maps may we suggest you do so now while the price is right!

New Info Centre

The Central Ontario Travel Association (C.O.T.A.) is sponsoring a new Travel Information Centre this summer at Orono, on Highway 115 and 35, just north of Newcastle. Travel Counsellors will be on duty there seven days a week and will dispense literature from The Ministry of Industry and Tourism, C.O.T.A. and all its member organizations such as ourselves.

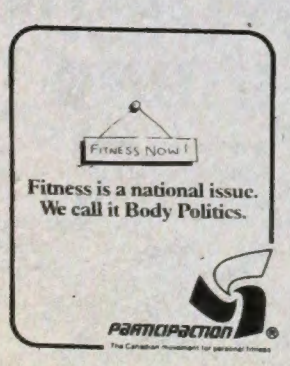
In addition they will carry any brochures provided from other individuals who are willing to pay a $20.00 rack fee to assist the cost of operating the booth. Anyone wishing to take advantage of this offer may either do so directly or through the Chamber. The centre will be open by mid June.

While we are on the subject of information centres we would like to remind you that all Chamber members are encouraged to display brochures, business cards, fliers or whatever, in our Minden office which is now open seven days a week. The Haliburton (Dysart) Caboose and the Cardiff Log School Information Centres are supported by the respective Municipalities in co-operation with the Chamber and they also are prepared to accept brochures from any businesses who may benefit from their assistance.

All these centres are here to help you. Please take the utmost advantage of them by keeping them stocked with brochures and providing the staff with up-to-date information on what you have to offer the visitors in our area. Make a note of the phone numbers – Chamber, 286-1760, Haliburton 457-2871 and Cardiff 339-2349.

Pioneer of Tourist Industry

It has been two years, but it seems like only yesterday that we talked in this column of the passing of Merv Robertson, who along with his wife Alice, were among the pioneers of the Tourist Industry in Haliburton County. While operating Wig-A-Mog Inn they established many sound friendships not only here amidst their community, but throughout the industry among their colleagues. Now as a result of a tragic automobile accident Alice has passed away also. She will be sadly missed by all of those friends. Certainly all of us who were fortunate enough to be acquainted with them both would agree that we are a little better off for having known them. Our sincere sympathy goes out to Keith and Julie and the other members of the family.



Rotary Club donates $100 for local Big Brothers

Minden Rotary club has indicated its support for the formation of a Big Brother's organization in the county by donating $100 to the fledgling organization. The donation was made Monday evening during the clubs regular meeting.

Guest speaker for the evening was Al Oakley, who has been organizing the local chapter. He described the benefits that accrue to the youngsters taking part in the one man-one boy program.

According to Oakley at least 70 boys in the county could benefit from the Big Brother association. He said there are a number of youths eagerly waiting to be matched with Big Brothers but a lack of older volunteers has slowed the full introduction of the program in the county.

The organizer pointed out that a board of directors screens each application from a potential Big Brother in attempt to match older men and young boys with similar interests. Once the matching is made, the pair are usually left to develop their own relationship. Oakley told the audience that an average of 4 to 5 hours of time is needed each week to properly fill the role as a Big Brother.

Oakley is a high school teacher. He said that in the time he has lived in the county he has noted an increase in petty crimes such as vandalism. He said that in some cases the incidents could be traced to the lack of male guidance in the family setting and that the Big Brothers program could help fill that gap.

He urged the members of the Rotary Club to become involved in the program or to actively recruit others to take part.

Anyone interested in more information on Big Brothers can contact Oakley at 457-2950.

Bob Penfold, right, president of Minden Rotary Club, presents Al Oakley with a cheque for $100 to assist in the organization of a Big Brother chapter in Haliburton county.

Tax discounts

the municipality to offer the two percent saving to those who pay their taxes early, an additional $12,000 must be raised through taxes.

He pointed out that in addition to rewarding taxpayers for prompt payment with their own money, the processing of the discounts created administration expenses. Nesbitt said that many municipalities in the province have dropped the discount scheme.

Problems were also experienced when taxpayers would mail their payments the day before the discount expires and the cheque would not arrive at the Minden office until after that date. Eliminating the discount will do away with these problems the reeve pointed out.

Interest charges for late payment of taxes will continue to be assessed by the municipality.

Exemption granted for sewer hook-up

Residents of the Village of Minden who do not wish to hook their residences into the municipality's sewer system can refrain from doing so if they obtain the approval of the township council.

The policy change was agreed to at the May 28 meeting of the council. Previously it had been expected that all residences in the community were to be hooked into the system if the pipes had been installed in front of their homes.

According to the policy announced Wednesday, residents must make formal application to the municipality to be exempt from the hook-up provisions. The applications must indicate that the Ministry of the Environment and the Health Unit have no objections to the continued use of the septic system for these residences.

While the residents may be avoiding the expense of attaching their homes to the village sewer system, they will still be assessed an annual sewer fee, the same as others in the community who have installed the sewer system.

Earlier this year it was suggested that all homes and buildings would have to be hooked up to the sewer system by November. However, it was pointed out at the Wednesday meeting that local plumbers can only complete about 100 hook-ups during a summer season and that there were at least 200 homes still not on the system.

Kudos for OPP

The Ontario Provincial Police in Minden received the thanks and praise of Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone Reeve Fred Baum at the May 21 meeting of County Council.

The reeve was referring to the recent manhunt carried out in the Dorset area for Rodney Allan Kirkpatrick, a fugitive who was wanted on a number of charges. The man had eluded police for almost two weeks. He broke into cottages in the Dorset area to obtain food and clothing changes.

"Many residents and cottagers were concerned when it was learned this man was in the area," Baum told the councillors. "We appreciate the extra patrols the OPP carried out in their efforts to catch the man," Baum said.

Kinsmen hear of the C.F. struggle

Tina Prime is an active, intelligent and charming seven year old, just like many other children. Yet she is different. She has cystic fibrosis.

Tina's father, Walt Prime, talked about what life is like with a CF child. He spoke at the Minden Kinsmen Club's CF Night at Loralea Lodge at Hall's Lake Monday. The evening was also Ladies' Night, at which wives and guests were invited.

Mr. Prime spoke candidly about the disease that affects one in every 1800 children born in Canada.

He explained what cystic fibrosis is and how it affects a child.

CF is a hereditary disease that is passed on to a child only if both parents are carriers. It is estimated that one in every 20 people is a carrier. As yet, there is no cause or cure for CF.

The problem is that parents or prospective parents cannot be tested to see if they are carriers. However, once a child is diagnosed as having CF, the prospects are optimistic. If diagnosed early the child has a better chance to live longer. But, sometimes the disease does not show up until the child is as old as 16.

Mr. Prime said that the disease affects the pancreas, therefore food taken in passes right through the body.

Mucus build up prevents the manufacture of a necessary enzyme which is instrumental in the digestion process.

The mucus also builds up in the lungs causing severe blockage.

Mr. Prime estimates that it takes he and his wife three hours a day to give Tina the therapy and treatment she needs. But as he said, "You have to do it because if you don't you'll have to rush her to the hospital."

Fortunately, Tina is an avid reader and writer and because of this is above average in school. She also enjoys playing outdoors and being active which helps to keep her lungs free.

Tina must take a large number of pills, ranging from salt pills to vitamin C to multi-vitamins, as many as 50 per meal, enough to almost fill a coffee mug. One of her treatments requires her to receive air through a machine. This creates moisture in her lungs to reduce blockage.

The lifespan of a CF child is greater today than ever before. In 1940, the average lifespan was one year. Today, it is as high as 22.

Continued research, public education by groups like Kinsmen and better diagnostic techniques will certainly help CF children.

During 1978-79, $1,711,712 in income was raised for the Canadian CF Foundation of which 34% came from Kinsmen. This year the district Kinsmen pledge is for $240,000.

Larry Amyotte, the representative for the Minden Zone urged people to talk about CF with friends and family and that way more people will become aware of the disease.

For more information or if you wish to make a donation, write to Louis Stevens, Kinsmen Club of Minden, Minden, Ontario.

Tender call issued for curling club

Tenders for the design of the new activity centre and curling club for Minden were announced this week. The tender call, which closes June 24, was approved at the May 28 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council.

Godfrey Saunders and Jim Garbutt, club representatives, appeared before the council. They told the meeting that approval in principle for the project had been received from Wintario. The provincial lottery organization has indicated its intention to match the dollars raised through public subscription for the construction of the building.

The club's building committee have completed the final details for the structure. These will be given to the successful tender applicant for incorporation into construction specifications.

Soil tests at the construction site, west of the present community centre, are expected to be carried out shortly.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt requested that a structural study of the present curling club be carried out, as well, to determine the work that must be done to bring the building up to standard for winter use.

Counties agree to study

The counties of Victoria and Haliburton have agreed to examine a proposal to run a steam tourist train between Lindsay and Haliburton. The train would allow tourists to see the area while travelling by a unique form of transport.

The train would operate on a CN rail line between the two communities. The line north of Kinmount has been closed since 1978 because of a washout.

The study will cost approximately $30,000 and David Johnston, the Victoria County planner said that the Ministry of Industry and Tourism is willing to share the cost with the counties.

The province will hopefully pay two-thirds of the total and Johnston said that Victoria county's share will be two-thirds and Haliburton's one-third of the remaining amount. $3,500 will be paid by local residents.

Alternate uses for the tracks, such as freight haulage in case the tourist train idea did not stand on its own economically and the general level of revenue that could be generated will be included in the study.

Johnston estimates that the study will take six months but both groups are hoping that the ministry will begin work soon on the terms of reference for the study. He hopes that part will be completed in two months.

programs.

Four instructors will be hired for the seven weeks.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt noted that Minden and Dysart councils are currently discussing the possibility of sharing the services of a recreation director. He indicated that organizing swimming classes would be one of his responsibilities.

The reeve also suggested that service clubs in the area be contacted to see what support they could provide for the swim program. Mrs. Hall said she was approaching the two clubs for funds to assist with the purchase of some equipment. She also noted that the municipality assists with the preparation and removal of the swimming docks each year.

Councillor Len Lonsberry described the swim program as a necessary one. He suggested that the council should be prepared to pick up the entire cost, after fees, if necessary.

You've got a right to equal pay for doing substantially the same work as a man. In fact, you've got a law.

Getting paid the same as a man when you're doing substantially the same work is the law in Ontario. The trouble is, many female employees haven't been paid according to the law, for one reason or another.

Examples.

It's not good enough for employers to set wage rates on the basis of job title, or to use minor differences in work to justify differences in pay.

For example men employed as clerks may have to do some purchasing of plant equipment or supplies perhaps, while a woman clerk may do the purchasing of smaller items—stationery, office needs, etc. But minor differences such as locking up at night, handling petty cash or lifting heavier loads do not make a "substantial difference" in the job and do not necessarily entitle the man to a higher rate of pay. The law states that when a woman is doing substantially the same work as a man, she must be paid the same.

What "substantially the same" means.

To clarify it for you, 'substantially the same' means that the skill, effort, responsibility and working conditions required for the work are similar and any difference in these are of a minor nature.

In considering skill, attention is paid to factors such as experience, training and education required to do the work. In considering effort, attention is paid to the degree of physical or mental exertion required to do the work. And in considering responsibility, attention is paid to the degree of accountability to others in doing the work.

Enforcement of the law.

To enforce the equal pay law, the government of Ontario has added extra staff to the Employment Standards Branch. Their job is to make spotchecks into businesses across the province, to audit pay practices and to investigate complaints made by you to the Ministry of Labour.

Equal pay for equal work. It's your right. And it's the law.

If you want more information or feel you have a valid complaint, call or write your local Employment Standards Branch of the Ontario Ministry of Labour.

To call your local Employment Standards Branch, check your telephone directory or ask Bell Directory Assistance for the toll free number.

Paying a woman less than a man for doing substantially the same work isn't just unfair, it's illegal.

The same pocket

Minden Township council deserves credit for the successful effort in holding the line.

In the budget released last Wednesday, it was shown that while taxes for Anson, Hindon and Minden ratepayers will be increasing in 1980, the boost in the mill rate will be due to increased demands from the county and the board of education.

The municipal councillors took pains to point out that fact Wednesday. Since the municipality is charged with collecting its own taxes, as well as those levied by the education board and the county, the councillors wanted to make clear that in areas over which they have jurisdiction, the mill rate did not increase.

That much said, a closer examination of the figures released with the 1980 budget might provide some food for thought. For example, while the municipal portion of the mill rate has not increased, the amount of money being spent by the municipality is up by almost $60,000. While the situation may at first appear to be the workings of Merlin or Houdini, delving deeper reveals that the extra $60,000 is not being raised by local taxation, but is coming principally from increased provincial grants.

We support the municipality's initiative in taking full advantage of programs sponsored by the federal or, in this case, provincial government, which will bring more money into the township. Indeed, as one of the less prosperous parts of Ontario, it is to the township's benefit to draw on provincial and federal resources as much as possible.

However, what local councillors and others often tend to forget in their grab for subsidies from senior levels of government is that the money which finances these grants comes from the same citizens who pay the local taxes.

As one astute observer of economics once put it, "There is no free lunch."

Minden council may have avoided increasing the mill rate for general purposes, but they are spending $60,000 more this year. It is money that comes from only one source, the pockets of the taxpayers and whether it comes in local taxes or provincial grants, the money still comes from the same pocket.

The cost of education

An increase in education taxes once again leads the boost in mill rates in most jurisdictions in the province. In municipal council chambers across Ontario righteous fingers are being pointed at the spiralling cost of our elaborate education system as the culprit. While we agree that there are economies to be realized in almost all facets of the education process, there are some facts that should not be ignored.

The education we have now and must pay for, was born in the baby boom era of the 1960s. With sharp increases in student enrolment, facilities were built and expanded. A buoyant economy allowed for experimentation in programs which at the time may have been termed "luxuries", but which now have become necessities.

Paying for these facilities and programs was easy in the 1960s. The provincial government grant to school boards was based on the number of students and there were lots of them. The provincial contribution also met over 60 percent of the costs of education.

However, now the number of pupils in our schools is dropping and the Ontario government is cutting back on its grant support with close to 50 percent of the responsibility now falling to the local board to raise. But those expensive programs and grand buildings of the 1960s have not disappeared.

Cutting back on education taxes is a laudable goal. But the local boards are caught between spiralling costs and reduced provincial support. Even if the school board was able to hold spending to last year's level, taxes would have to be raised to meet the decrease in provincial support.

This situation does not and should not relieve the trustees of their responsibility to cut costs to the bone. However, ratepayers should realize that if they want a dramatic reduction in education taxes in the next few years, they must be equally willing to accept drastic cuts in school staff, programs and facilities.

Pat Campbell, Laura Kirkwood and Beatrice Taylor helped to make Minden a more colourful community as they transplanted young flowers to the beds along the Gull River last week. The three are members of the Horticultural Society which has taken on the chore of maintaining numerous flower beds and flower baskets throughout the community.

Editor:

I noticed in your last issue, (May 21) in a column where Lutterworth Township was discussing the 66 foot shoreline allowance, Councillor Bill Valentine accused me of telling a lie or of floating a deliberate lie, whatever that means.

For the record, I mentioned the figure of $250.00 at a public meeting back on March 29, 1980 in front of approximately 100 lake Presidents or their representatives with a speaker from the Ministry of Housing sitting right beside me. It would seem really strange to me that if I was telling a lie I would have heard about it long before this date.

I wonder if Councillor Valentine is serious or if he has the courage to meet with me in room 6449, Whitney Block, Queen's Park in the office of the Director of the Public Lands Section of the Ministry of Natural Resources and back up his accusations.

The $250.00 is the flat rate charged by the Ministry of Natural Resources for the 66' shoreline allowance strips within their jurisdiction, outside of organized municipalities.

Bert Shingler
R.R. 1 Uxbridge.

Editor:

We note an article on Page 6 of your May 21, 1980 issue of The Times in which a Councillor Bill Valentine of Lutterworth mentions the Executive Director Bert Shingler of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers Associations Inc. of telling a lie, in fact "floating a deliberate lie". Mr. Shingler was referring to Ministry of Natural Resources charge of $250.00 flat rate for closing the 66' shoreline allowance on Crown land. To quote Mr. Shingler's letter:

"In unorganized territories where the Ministry still has control, the 66' Crown Reserve is being deeded to the abutting owner for $250.00..."

"We would hope that the organized Municipalities would follow suit..." and a simplified procedure was suggested.

The $250.00 fee has been established by the Ministry of Natural Resources to cover administrative costs and can be verified by contacting that source.

We are well aware that there will be cases where some shoreline allowances cannot be closed for valid reasons, but in the great majority of cases there should be no problem.

It is recognized that a prospective shoreline allowance purchaser may require a surveyor and legal assistance. Each case must be assessed on its own merits.

It is further recognized that the current long drawn out procedures need simplifying and streamlining and are aggravating to the cottagers of Ontario and no doubt to the municipalities as well. Existing procedures are out of step with the current situation and need updating.

Simplified procedures should therefore be laid down by the Ministry of Housing which should be similar to and coincide with the current policy of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

It is the plan therefore of the Federation to work with the Ministries concerned towards this end.

We will keep you posted.

In the meantime, a public apology from Councillor Bill Valentine will be accepted.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

The Provincial Government has been overly lax in its restriction of the pollution of the atmosphere by Inco Ltd., according to Liberal Leader Stuart Smith.

He stressed the fact that sulphur dioxide emissions from the company's Sudbury operation are a major cause of the acid rain problem in the Muskoka-Haliburton region, and claimed that Inco could cut its emissions from the present 2,600 tons per day to 1,000 tons per day through the purchase of new smelting equipment.

"Inco will be playing a large role in killing tourism in Haliburton and Muskoka if its emissions are not further reduced," he said, and called upon the Government to draft a "proper" plan.

Current Government draft legislation would only limit Inco to 1,950 tons per day by 1983.

Acid rain has already rendered 140 Ontario lakes unable to support aquatic life, and some 48,500 are in danger of being affected.

Aluminum wire fire hazard

The Opposition has called for an all-out effort to inform the public of the dangers of faulty home push-in electrical outlets with aluminum wiring, because there is some evidence that loose connections could be fire hazards.

From here ... to there

For most residents of any community, the details involved in the computation of municipal taxes and where they will be spent can be very confusing. Often the only understanding of what the local council has budgeted for comes when the tax bill is received in the mail and the ratepayer is informed that a certain amount is owing to the municipality as his share of the local tax burden.

In an effort to cut through this confusion, The Times has provided below a detailed breakdown of where the tax dollars used by the municipality authorities in 1980 is coming from and where it is going to be spent.

The municipality is responsible for collecting taxes for the operation of the county government and the board of education as well. This explanation, based on a financial statement prepared by the municipal administration, will deal with taxes collected to support the activities of the township only. (Ratepayers wishing to examine the financial statement more closely can do so at the municipal office.)

Where it comes from

Funds for the operation of the various services provided by the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal government come from basically two sources. The first is taxes based on the real value of property within the boundaries of the municipality. The second source is grants from the provincial government.

According to the 1980 financial statement of the municipality, the $869,164 needed to run the municipality during 1980 will be derived from the following sources:

General taxes (including special area rates and telephone and telegraph contributions)	$365,706
Payments in lieu of taxes (payments made principally by other governments in place of the taxes which would be assessed against the property they own in the municipality)	$21,804
Unconditional Ontario government grants	$131,683
Specific Ontario grants (these are tied to particular projects or expenditures within the municipality and cannot be transferred from one area to another)	$224,575
Other grants	$13,101
Other revenue (this includes fees paid for licenses, fines, income from the sale of municipally owned land, etc.)	$69,695
Minden Recreation Department (generally all rental income associated with the arena and community centre)	$42,600
Total amount to be raised by the municipality in 1980	$869,164

Where it goes

The money collected by the municipality from taxes and the provincial government is used to provide numerous services to citizens within the townships. Not all services are available to all ratepayers.....for example, street lighting is available only in the built-up areas of the municipality.....and so tax rates in different parts of the townships may vary slightly to reflect this difference.

According to the 1980 financial statement for Anson, Hindon and Minden, the council has proposed to raise $869,164 to provide services in the municipality. This is how that money will be spent:

Township council expenses	$18,525
Administration	$94,319
Cost of maintaining municipally owned property	$41,932
Financial expenses (including uncollectable taxes, interest and bank charges and other expenses	$117,026
Fire department	$36,825
By-law enforcement	$27,897
Roadway maintenance and construction	$275,075
Traffic control and parking	$2,500
Streetlighting	$14,300
Garbage disposal (dump maintenance)	$36,100
Ambulance services	$57,355
Social and family services (including welfare)	$33,400
Parks and recreation facilities	$81,255
Recreation Department	$95,200
Planning and development	$3,300
Special works projects	$13,799
Total expenditure for 1980	$948,888

This final figure is reduced by $79,644, the amount of the municipal surplus in 1979, so the final expenditure for 1980 is $868,164.

Are you noticing fewer birds in your neighbourhood lately? Or that some species, quite common a few years ago, are now scarce? In many cases, there is little cause for concern, since changes in habitat or normal yearly fluctuations can dramatically affect local bird populations, but on a broader scale, these local patterns may be part of a wide-spread decline of our feathered friends.

Each year, the National Audubon Society in the U.S. publishes a Blue List for birds that are believed to be steadily declining in numbers in all or part of their range. Across North America, the Blue List has now reached a total of 73.

Some of its candidates are no surprise to knowledgeable Ontario bird-watchers - the Osprey, or fish-hawk, for example, and the Eastern Bluebird, both of which have slipped badly over the years. But others on the list are still common in Ontario - the American Kestrel, or sparrow hawk, which so often graces the roadside wires is a surprising candidate. So is the Hairy Woodpecker, and the Eastern Phoebe.

Birds of prey, including many hawks and owls, are especially well-represented on the 1980 Blue List. The families of marsh birds are also there in abundance, reflecting the widespread losses of wetland habitat across the continent. Even the stately Great Blue Heron has been added for the first time this year.

Often the cause of decline are well-documented, from loss of habitat or chemical poisoning. But in some cases, we have little idea of why a species is losing ground. The Loggerhead Shrike for example, whose gruesome habit of impaling mice on thorns was once common across southern Ontario, is now seldom seen. The reasons for its scarcity remain a mystery, a symbol of how little we really know about the effects of man on the natural world.

The Creature succeeds

The Highland Players have done it again.

A combination of excellent casting and a growing stage maturity carefully mixed with a light but entertaining play pleased audiences Thursday, Friday and Saturday evening at the high school.

The production, The Creature Creeps, by Jack Sharkey was warmly received by audiences on all nights and appears to have assured the amateur company a permanent place in the hearts of county theatre enthusiasts. Caryl Douglas was the director.

It is interesting to note a number of newcomers to the player's group that led the performances. Derek Smith in the lead role as the mad scientist, baron and overlord, portrayed his role superbly. He was ably supported by his hunched over assistant played by Steve Morin.

The castle maid, Cathy Stirling, was another outstanding characterization by a newcomer. Her stone-faced unflappable demeanor throughout the production provided perfect counter-point to the craziness going on around her.

Veteran players Heather Scully, Dale McConnell, Bonnie Fitzgerald and Glen Carter also joined the cast. Heather's dizzy interpretation of the somewhat dim daughter of the castle's don was delightful.

Other members of the cast included Koni Lattner, Lynn Graham, Betty Perugino, Sandy Willis and Yolanda McCormick.

One of the most interesting ideas of the evening took place not on stage, but in the front row. Instead of insisting that the younger members of the audience spend an entire evening sitting in a chair trying to peer over the heads of adults, a number of tumbling mats were placed just below the stage with a sign inviting the youngsters to watch the action from that vantage point. The mat idea ensured the youngsters had an unobstructed view of the action, all but eliminated the fidgeting of little hands and feet throughout the audience and gave the parents an opportunity to enjoy the play as well.

Many of these light comedies come, as this one did, with their own sound track. Perhaps they are deemed by some to be a clever idea, but for the audience the confusing switch from live action to recorded sound effects is disconcerting. Often the sound effect rarely resembles what it is intended after it has been pumped through the auditorium sound system.

While the sound track may be indispensible in some instances, we would like to see the players developing their own skills at creating the necessary sound effects for future plays.

Members of the crew included Lila Mitchell, Mike Jackson, Bev Simmonds, Mike Collins, Fay Silver, and Norma Douglas with some of the players also assisting.

We look forward with anticipation to the next production from the Highland Players.

Queen's Park Report

Connections within the outlets become loose, requiring periodic maintenance, and an Ontario Housing Corporation spokesman has stated that the company has been inspecting housing units for the past 18 months.

The manager of the Ministry of Housing's research and development section says Government officials have moved slowly despite the immediate dangers from the faulty wiring, because the whole aluminum wiring system is open to question, although virtually nothing has been done to date.

Ontario exodus

Thousands of people, many of them skilled workers, are leaving Ontario for the western provinces.

Some 17,000 people who have recently moved to Ontario from Quebec do not make up for the 27,000 who have moved west, mostly to Alberta and British Columbia.

However, Premier William Davis denied in the Legislature that the situation was serious, or that it could be interpreted as a sign of dissatisfaction with his Government. He stated that such popular mobility was "in the national interest." The fact remains, they are leaving Ontario.

Soyers Lake ratepayers meet

The Soyers Lake Ratepayers' Association Inc. held their spring meeting at Lakeview Lodge on May 18, 1980. The meeting was well attended. Chairman Lew McCorriston requested a moment's silence in memory of the late Mrs. Audrey Campbell. The death of Mr. Auvergne Staples was also recorded with regret.

The Association had a very successful year in 1979, and became incorporated as an Ontario Corporation No. 425326 under the name "Soyers Lake Ratepayr's Association Inc.", joining the growing list of F.O.C.A. members.

Mr. Ross Partridge, who has been monitoring the pollution in Soyers Lake, reported that in terms of acid rain, dissolved oxygen, pH and Secchi disc readings, the lake water is acceptable. The lake has a finger of limestone which tends to raise the pH level, making "liming" unnecessary. However, although several cottage owners maintained that they had suffered no ill effects from drinking lake water over a period of many years, Mr. Partridge could not recommend this practice on account of the bacteria.

The comparatively light snowfall during the 1979/80 winter had left several cottage owners without water supply and septic tank facilities. Minor road problems and the collapse of a small culvert on the Blairhampton road were also recorded. The ice had gone out of the lake some two weeks earlier than usual. There were no break-ins reported, and the police "red tag" service was greatly appreciated.

The number of sailboats on the lake is increasing, and an active programme for enthusiasts is being planned by Marnie Blair. Canoe races will also be held in conjunction with the wiener roast later in the season. Fishermen will be able to enter the annual fish derby throughout the summer, and a tennis court is being made available for members.

It was understood that the Township of Anson, Hindon and Minden has adopted a new policy under which cottage owners can enclose the 66-foot road allowance adjoining their properties, but must apply for Township permission to do so. Cottage owners wishing to purchase their portion of the road allownace should contact the Township office. A motion was proposed by Mr. Bert Tait, seconded by Mr. Ian Stewart, that the S.L.R.A. request the Municipality to set up regulations regarding the purchase of road allowances.

Concern was expressed about the proposed plan for developing the Hislop properties, the refuge of the few remaining beaver, loon, osprey and heron on the lake. The Association passed a motion proposed by Mr. B. Beishuizen that the letter be sent to the Township requesting that the by-law be changed to read: "Development of lots to be not less than 150 feet of lake frontage with an area of 30,000 square feet each." The motion was seconded by Miss C. Geary.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

by William C. Scott, M.P.

The House of Commons is presently debating a bill that would grant authority to the federal government to borrow twelve billion dollars. The bill (C-30), comprises only two short paragraphs and one sub-paragraph.

Quite obviously that means that there is no explanation, nor even a clue, as to why the government should be authorized to borrow so much money at this particular time.

The usual practice followed by Parliament in granting sums of money, or borrowing authority, is for the bill to contain information as to why the money is needed.

For example, once every year Parliament is asked to grant approval to the government to spend a specific sum of money to pay public service wages, salaries and fees. It is easy for Members to debate such a bill, because we are discussing specific items and details.

In the case of bills such as C-30, they should be tabled in conjunction with a budget, but the present government has not yet tabled a budget, and the Minister of Finance refuses to give us any indication as to when he will present a budget.

The only thing that we know about Bill C-30 is that it will plunge us 12 billion dollars deeper into debt, only three months after the present government was returned to office, and before we know what the government plans in the way of remedies for serious national problems.

When the Progressive Conservatives were the government we initiated policies designed to reduce waste in government spending, and to control cost over-runs in government projects. It is already apparent that the present government does not intend to follow up on our initiatives in this area, and that they intend to continue a policy of reckless spending and deficit financing.

Two examples of this have been revealed recently by my party's Treasury Board critic. One concerns the enormous cost of the government's decision to cancel the transfer of the Parks Canada regional Office from Cornwall to Peterborough.

The other concerns the cost over-runs on 497 government projects, where final estimates of 4.7 billions ended up costing the Canadian taxpayers 6.3 billion dollars, an increase of 1.6 billion dollars.

The President of the Treasury Board has released a document showing that it will cost the government 1.1 million dollars in compensation payments to employees who have suffered losses and other problems as a result of the cancellation of the plans to move the Parks Canada regional office.

Nearly half of this money, or $536,000, will not be covered by current Treasury Board policy, but the Board says it plans to pass this off by calling the payments "an act of grace", whatever that is supposed to mean.

An an example, the spouse of one Parks Canada employee will be paid a lump sum of $30,000 as compensation for career injury, interim costs and lost income.

Another Parks Canada employee will receive $10,000 in compensation because he turned down a chance to move elsewhere and receive a promotion because he preferred to move to Peterborough. Bill Domm, Member of Parliament for Peterborough riding, said that 115 of the 145 Parks Canada employees in Cornwall had signed a form agreeing to move to Peterborough, and many of them had already sold their homes in Cornwall and bought new ones in Peterborough.

Domm accused the government of cancelling the move from Cornwall because Peterborough riding returned a Conservative to Parliament, while Cornwall returned a Liberal Member to Parliament.

Apart from the senseles disruption in the functions of Parks Canada and in the lives of the employees, this is an expensive way to thank the people in Cornwall riding for voting Liberal in the last election.

Car strikes tree

A 20 year old West Guilford woman lost control of her car and went into the ditch striking a tree and causing $1000 damage to the vehicle.

Angela Sisson was driving her 1973 car on County Road Seven in Guilford Township when she lost control.

Constable Bob Wood investigated the accident.

Motorcycle accident

Two young men, both 18, were taken to the Haliburton Hospital after an accident involving a motorcycle they were riding and a vehicle on Highway 648 in the Wilberforce area on Saturday May 31.

Barry Hogan, of Highland Grove, who was driving the motorcycle was later flown to Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto. Terry Hogan sustained a fractured shoulder and lacerations.

The driver of the car, Monetta Outram, 45, of Harcourt was travelling north and was turning into a store parking area when the motorcycle, coming south, slid into the car.

The accident occurred at 5 p.m. and caused $600 damage to the motorcycle and $100 damage to the car.

Constable Mike Smith was the investigating officer. The case in continuing.

Racquet club formed

The first meeting of the Minden Racquet Club drew 15 enthusiastic people on May 27.

The meeting, held at Archie Stouffer School, was called to bring people together socially and offer an opportunity to participate in tennis, badminton and ping pong.

Tennis is already offered at the Municipal courts and badminton is being played at Archie Stouffer School and has been for the past three years.

Ping pong will begin in the fall at the Hyland Crest Auditorium. Registration forms will be available in mid-June from the Minden Medical Centre. The fee is $2.00 per year with a minimum enrolment age of 12 years. The club is in need of folding type ping-pong tables.

Anyone with tables to lend to the Racquet Club from September to April contact Jeff Lodenquai at either the Minden Medical Centre or at 286-1297.

An election for the new executive was also held. The officers include: Jeff Lodenquai - president; Terry Smith - secretary-treasurer; Bruna Foran - badminton captain; Alex Dolenski - ping pong captain; Paul Prentice - tennis captain.

HALIBURTON COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION
FINANCIAL STATEMENT
DECEMBER 31, 1979

TO THE HALIBURTON COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

We have examined the Balance Sheet of the Haliburton County Board of Education as at December 31, 1979, the Revenue Fund statement of Operations and the Capital Fund Statement of Operations for the year then ended. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion these Financial Statements present fairly the financial position of the board as at December 31, 1979 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted for Ontario school boards applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

New MNR office deferred 10 years

Plans by the Ontario government for the construction of a new district office for the Ministry of Natural Resources in Minden have been shelved. The decision of the Ministry of Government Services was announced last week at the May 28 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council.

The construction of the new building, something which has been talked about for a number of years, was described by the Government Services letter as a "low priority". It was pointed out that restraint on the part of all provincial agencies had reduced the funds available for capital development.

According to the ministry the project has been put off for at least ten years.

The Ministry of Natural Resources now operates from a group of buildings located on Highway 35. The new construction would have amalgamated many of the departments in one structure.

A request was also made to exempt three of the buildings at the rear of the site from hooking into the town's sewer system. Because of their location it would be extremely expensive to bring the sewer line to these buildings. The council noted that under the new policy, the ministry can apply to the municipality for an exemption if the Ministry of the Environment and the health unit approve the continued use of the present sewer system at the site.

W.I. visit K-W

The long drive to Kitchener-Waterloo (by Travelways chartered bus), began at 6:40 a.m., Wednesday, May 28. There were 47 passengers on board.

We stopped in Markham for a coffee break and, upon arriving in Kitchener, were given a brief tour of the area and the downtown farmer's market. Jock Barley was our host at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Kitchener where we had our lunch.

Following the meal we toured the Doon Pioneer Village. This was a particularly rewarding visit with many artifacts on display and old pioneer buildings such as barns, homes, schools, churches and other structures set as in early days. The Waterloo County display was also here, a real find for the historian.

Most of the afternoon was spent in the village, however, before beginning the return trip to Minden, we stopped at Fairview Mall. We have seen this mall on television. It is a very large complex with shops and restaurants to suit everyone.

On the way home we passed by the busy Toronto International Airport near Malton. It was interesting to see the many planes coming and going. Also, near Ballantrae, a large hot air balloon landed close to the highway and we stopped to watch it.

Minden's main street finally came into view and we were glad to be home. It was a very enjoyable day, the weather being very co-operative. Everyone agreed that it was a day well spent.

Spray and prune to combat white pine weevil

The Minden district office of the Ministry of Natual Resources has received a number of requests for information about insects which attack local trees. In an effort to keep the public informed about the insects which are active in the area and how landowners can combat them, Keith Oitment of the local office has prepared a series of articles on the pests. The first of these timely reports, this one on the white pine weevil, appears below. Others in the series will be appearing in subsequent issues of The Times.

Young white pine between 3 and 25 feet are the targets for this common forest pest. Trees are not killed but seriously deformed and often result in a crooked, forked, or "cabbage" tree.

Only the vertical terminal is attacked, the new shoot wilts, bends over and turns brown, and at least two years terminal growth are destroyed.

At this time of year the adult weevil emerges from the litter layer on the ground and deposits eggs in the bark of the terminal leader.

When eggs hatch, the larvae feed downward in the inner bark and usually the stem is girdled and killed.

Control

1. Spray vertical terminals when the adult weevils become active in the spring. Use METHOXYCHLOR in the form of an emulsion.
2. Remove and destroy infested terminals in June or July. At the same time prune the uppermost whorl of branches, leaving one of smaller diameter to assume dominance and develop into a new leader.

Acid rain raises heavy metal in fish

Fish living in acidic water show a higher level of mercury contamination than fish living in lakes less affected by acidic precipitation, reveals the report "The Effects of Water Quality and Morphometric Parameters on Mercury Uptake by Yearling Yellow Perch" released recently by Ontario Environment Minister Harry C. Parrott.

"Ministry scientists have completed a study of one-year old fish in 14 precambrian lakes in Ontario as part of our acidic precipitation program. Ontario is spending more than $5 million this year on research into aspects of acid rain," said Dr. Parrot. "This specific study is one stage in our long-term research to determine the posible effects of acid rain on human health."

Depending on the acidity of the lakes studied, mercury residues in the young fish ranged from 0.02 parts per million (ppm) to 0.197 ppm. These levels of mercury contamination are significantly below fish consumption guideline levels. Normally fish of the size studied are not eaten.

Lakes studied ranged from highly acidic to alkaline with high buffering capacity. Lowest mercury concentrations were found in fish from lakes with high buffering capacity, and in one lake that had been experimentally treated with lime in 1975 and 1976.

Another factor that influenced the mercury uptake of fish was the size of the lake's drainage basin. In lakes of similar acidity higher mercury contaminations were found in fish from lakes with larger drainage basins. In lakes with low acidity and high buffering capacity the sizes of drainage basins did not have any measurable influence on fish mercury concentration.

"The results indicate that acid stress in lakes may be a pre-condition for the faster uptake of mercury by fish," Dr. Parrott said. "To further clarify the effect of lake acidity and mercury contamination of fish on human health, we are continuing research on the relationship between mercury contamination of yearlings and of adult sportfish in acid stressed precambrian lakes," said Dr. Parrott.

The use of yearling fish for the study of water conditions has been developed since 1975 by Environment Ontario's limnology and toxicity section. Young fish travel only short distances and their analysis therefore pinpoints sources of contamination better in space and time than a study on older fish. This investigation can also indicate quickly and reliably changes in contamination and the effect of abatement measures.

Young fish sampling has also been used in mercury investigations in the Wabigoon-English River area; to measure the quality of effluents from sewage treatment plants; to identify contaminant sources in the Great Lakes and for contaminant trend monitoring.

Farm News and Views

An interest rebate program for farmers has recently been announced by the Minister of Agriculture and Food for Ontario.

More details are now available. The program is for short-term loans for farm operating capital. Interest on a maximum loan of $75,000 will be considered. The rebate is up to 3% for interest rates above 12%.

Expenses such as feed, seed, fertilizer, feeder cattle and hogs, machinery repairs, hired labour and custom work are included.

A farmer must gross $8,000 in the 12 month period prior to application.

A farmer must own less than 75% of total farm assets.

The program runs from April 1, to December 31, 1980.

Application is made at the termination of the loan or after program expires.

Application forms should be available in about two weeks from lending agencies and the Lindsay Agricultural Office.

Anhydrous warning

A common activity on many corn fields now is the application of anhydrous ammonia as a nitrogen fertilizer.

Anhydrous is one of the most dangerous substances that farmers handle. Accidental contact with the eyes can destroy your sight in a matter of seconds. Everyone working around anhydrous should be wearing safety glasses.

Also accidental contact with the skin can cause severe burning. Several farm workers in the area have been injured already this year. Be sure to wear gloves and keep your shirt on when applying anhydrous.

Atrazine residue

We've received several reports of problems with atrazine residues from 1979. Farmers who applied as little as one pound of atrazine per acre last year are finding damage on grain and forage seedings this year.

Probably the best rule to follow is if any atrazine is applied to corn one year, then only corn is grown on that field the next year.

Right now is the time to make accurate written records of which corn fields received atrazine this year. Then file those notes so you can easily find them when you're planning next year's cropping program.

Both forage and grain seeds cost too much to lose the seeding to an unexpected atrazine residue.

It appears that the main culprit in high atrazine residues is the spraying equipment.

Surveys show that most sprayers do not maintain a constant level of application of material. They need to be re-calibrated and checked every few days.

Too many farmers never bother to calibrate their sprayer, so their rate of application of herbicide is, at best, a calculated guess. If atrazine is the herbicide being applied with an uncalibrated sprayer, the chances of a residue are much greater.

Don't gamble. Calibrate your sprayer, and if you use atrazine on a corn field this year, plant that field to corn again next year.

Wood fires pose hazard

Heating with wood may save dollars, but it could mean you are placing your entire house at risk. Here are some safety suggestions from Stanhope Fire Chief George Wilson that should help to make the change to wood as trouble-free as possible.

As energy costs continue to climb, many people are rekindling an old flame - wood fires.

With proper forest management, wood can provide a cheap, clean, renewable energy source.

But don't forget you'll be playing with fire. An improperly installed or maintained fireplace, stove or combination wood-oil unit is a fire hazard.

Use common sense and follow a few simple guidelines:

--Install only units that have been certified for wood use by the Canadian Standards Association, or Underwriters' Laboratories of Canada. Combination wood-gas units are not approved.

--Stoves, including grates, should be in good condition. Doors and dampers should fit tightly so you can control the rate of combustion.

--Hire an expert to make sure the flue pipe and chimney are in good repair and can handle the higher temperatures produced by wood fires.

--If you originally had a coal or wood-burning furnace in your home and later converted to a gas or oil unit, restoration should be relatively simple. However, some chimneys are designed specifically for oil or gas and may not be adequate for wood.

--Masonry or ULC-certified, factory-build chimneys are safe for use with wood. But masonry chimneys should have a fire clay flue liner.

--Flammable materials should not be left closer than two inches (five centimetres) from the chimney. Chimneys should extend at least three feet (90 centimetres) higher than any part of a sloped roof within 10 feet (three metres) horizontally of the chimney.

--If flue pipes must pass through combustible walls, a heat-dispersing thimble at least 18 inches (45 centimetres) in diameter should encircle the pipes.

--Contact your insurance agent before adding a new heating system. It may be considered an additional risk resulting in higher premiums. If you do not notify your agent and a fire occurs, your insurance may not apply.

--Because of the additional fire hazards, also consider installing a smoke detector.

County students graduate

One student from Minden and two from Haliburton received their diplomas from Durham College at the May 24 Convocation held in the Oshawa Civic Auditorium.

Carolyn Kinsman from Minden, Laureen Emmerson and Kendra Stamp from Haliburton graduated along with 517 other students, the largest graduating class in the college's history.

The students received diplomas and certificates in Applied Arts, Business, Technology and Health Sciences.

An Oshawa Accounting and Finance graduate, Robert Ford was awarded a $250 scholarship as best overall Durham student.

In addition, 42 graduating students made the Dean's List with an overall average of 80% or better.

Plea for exemption

The municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden has formally applied to the Ministry of Housing for exemption from the provisions of the Business Improvement Area (BIA) legislation which requires a community have an official plan before receiving provincial assistance.

The exemption was requested at a special meeting of the council held May 20.

Under the provisions of the BIA, any community applying for provincial assistance for a downtown redevelopment program, must have an official plan. A representative of the Ministry who was at an earlier meeting of council stated that because of the special circumstance in this community, the ministry may be willing to accept the county development strategy as a sign of the area's intention to eventually acquire an official plan.

If the Ministry of Housing does not accept the township's request, many months of planning will be lost.

Mainstream Canada

Co-operation is the key

By B. Roger Worth

What does Quebec want? For that matter, what does Alberta want, or Newfoundland, or British Columbia, or Ontario?

If the views of hard-nosed provincial politicians are any barometer, one thing is eminently clear: most of the provinces want more control over their own affairs.

The only way to increase provincial autonomy, of course, is to dilute the power of the federal government.

Many times it is difficult to fault the provincial politicians.

Roger Worth is Director, Public Affairs, Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

Quebec, for example, is deeply concerned (and rightly so) about survival of the French language and culture in Canada, as well as economic matters. Politicians in the energy-producing provinces believe it is their job to fight for the highest possible price for the commodity.

Newfoundland claims the rights to offshore minerals and the fishery, industrialized Ontario wants policies that will support its big manufacturing sector, and British Columbia – like the other Western provinces – is seeking better representation in the Senate and the highest court in the land.

The list of federal-provincial irritants seems endless.

Confrontation has become the norm in Canada. The amount of co-operation that had existed between the two levels of government in earlier times has plummeted, and the country has suffered.

Perhaps it is time for the politicians to return the word "co-operation" to the federal-provincial vocabulary, tapping the public goodwill in all parts of Canada to provide solutions to very real problems.

Somehow, a political deal must be worked out that will satisfy at least some provincial aspirations, at the same time allowing Ottawa enough power to effectively manage the economy and redistribute the nation's wealth to maintain living standards in the poorer regions.

Canadians deserve a real effort to find political solutions that will halt the endless federal-provincial battles that are playing a large role in tearing the country apart.

Hustlers bag two more wins

The Minden Rockcliffe Hotel Hustlers continue their winning ways in the Tri-County Fastball League. The local team defeated Fenelon Falls twice in the past week to stretch their winning streak at the opening of the season to four games.

The Fenelon squad was in town last Wednesday evening and fell at the hands of the Hustlers 11-1. John Welch and Bernie Nichols popped round trippers for the Minden nine. Jack Snell was the winning pitcher.

Snell also led the team to a 2-1 squeaker Monday night in Fenelon Falls.

With four wins in four games under their belts so far this season the Hustlers have amassed an enviable record of allowing only five runs.

The next game for the team is tonight (June 4) at the Minden diamond. They face the Lindsay Juniors. The Minden squad play Thursday night in Lindsay against the senior squad and next Tuesday in Woodville before they face Woodville on home turf June 11.

Skaters meet

A Minden Figure Skating Meeting was held at the Municipal building on May 13.

The happenings of the past year were discussed and the new executive for the coming year have been formed.

Heading the executive are Eleanor Hall, Elaine Blakey, Eleanor Gilligan and Pat Atkinson. The skating executive will meet in June.

A bake sale was held on May 17 on the lawn of the Bank of Commerce and over $100 was raised.

A grand prize draw for $1,000 will be held in August at the Haliburton County Fair.

A resolution of thanks to area merchants and supporters of the club was endorsed by the members.

A living fence

Privacy fences, solid brick walls, retaining walls and screens are necessary elements of home surroundings. These features often appear harsh and uninviting. In nature, such mistakes are soon covered with mosse, lichens and, as time goes on, with leafy plants. These plants soften harsh lines and unsightly features. You can apply the same principles to difficult man-made features in the home landscape.

Evergreen or semi-evergreen plants are the most effective means of softening the harsh, broad expanse of a brick or concrete wall. The big-leaf winter creeper (Euonymus vegetus), although a slow-growing plant, will provide good cover without extra support, if properly trained. It will grow well in partially shaded or exposed locations, but may require protected locations in northern parts of the province. Where sunny conditions prevail, Boston ivy or English ivy will give good quick cover. Renew the vines every few years with a sever pruning early in the season to ensure bright-green, young, vigorous foliage year after year.

You can use a wider range of plant material to cover fences and retaining walls. Some flowering shrubs can be trained to grow flat against a support by annual pruning and tying. The climbing honeysuckle will soon cover a coarse trellis or open fence. The Virgin's bower clematis will cover a tall fence or privacy screen with only minimum support and will provide a beautiful show of small, white flowers in August.

Other perennial or woody vines for fences or screens are the bittersweet vine (Celastrus), with clusters of orange-red fruits in late fall; or the climbing hydrangea, for partially-shaded locations. For sunny, well-drained locations try wisteria, a rampant-growing plant that features magnificent chains of violet flowers in June; or the silver-lace vine (Polygonum aubertii), which has cloud-like masses of white blooms in late August or early September.

Herbaceous flower border plants can also be used to hide unsightly features. Perennial sweet pea (Lathyrus latifolius) is an excellent background for the perennial or herbaceous border. It covers a trellis or open fence quickly each spring with pale-green leaves and rose-pink flowers in early summer. Climbing nasturtiums, the clock vine (Thunbergia), the cup-and-saucer vine (Cobaea Scandens), are three annual vines worth considering. They will thrive in bright, sunny locations. The latter two are best started indoors to have a head start on the summer growing season.

Bare walls, naked fences, unsightly screen, posts and pillars can become attractive features in any garden. Check the seed and nursery catalogues for vines and climbing plants to add a touch of makeup to your garden.

Saving 17 trees

One tonne of recycled waste paper can save up to 17 trees. Canadians use hundreds of thousands of high grade office paper each year, and most of it could be recycled. Have you considered starting a recycling project? It is your environment.

Tom Watt guest speaker at MMHA banquet

Participation in a wide variety of sports and stress on practising basic hockey skills are the things young hockey players need to improve, said Tom Watt, coach of Canada's Olympic hockey team at last Wednesday's annual Minden Minor Hockey League banquet.

Watt was the guest speaker for the evening's activities at which presentations were made to the teams, their coaches and managers for their outstanding play during the season.

Watt advised the young players to keep in top form by participating in other athletic events.

He said that many of the European hockey players do this and he encourages youngsters to start early and develop discipline in their training.

Watt told the boys to "not just work at hockey goals but also goals in life." He stressed this point and continued by saying that it isn't always important if you are successful.

He suggested that the youngsters set goals for next season in their hockey but also in school or work.

Watt then switched topics and talked about Canada's standing in international hockey saying, "it just isn't a Canadian monopoly anymore. The Finns and the Swedes have good teams as well as the United States."

He outlined three main reasons why he thinks the European teams are good.

He said that the people are involved in many sports which stress different athletic abilities. "They are athletes, first, hockey players second."

Another point made by the guest speaker was that the team works on a five-man unit. The same two defencemen play with the same forward line. This way, each player gets to know the style and abilities of his teammates.

In Canadian hockey, one forward line will play together but the defencemen may be different. Watt said that the European idea was advantageous.

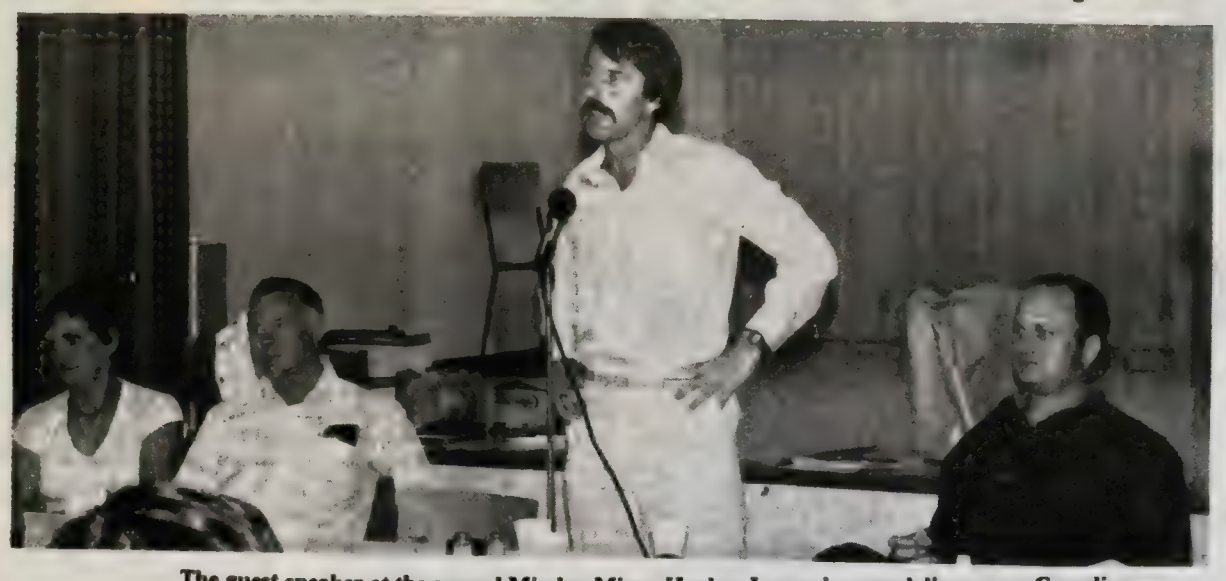
Watt noted that Minden has its own hockey arena which is excellent, but he said, "We need bigger rinks in Canada, Olympic size rinks."

He said the size makes a big difference because the emphasis in on passing and skating, it's a team game.

Watt concluded by saying that Canada hasn't had a national hockey team since 1968 and he emphasized for any young players thinking of playing for Canada that it would be excellent experience if they then wanted to try a professional career.

He is optimistic about Canada's national team saying it is a healthy situation for hockey here in Canada.

Watt is the coach of the Varsity Blues, the University of Toronto hockey team and an associate professor at the university also.



The guest speaker at the annual Minden Minor Hockey League's annual dinner was Canadian Olympic Hockey coach Tom Watt. The banquet was held May 28 at the Community Centre.

New hockey exec.

A new executive was elected at the Minden Minor Hockey Annual Banquet on May 28.

The new president is Mervin Barry, the vice-president is Carl Hie and Shirley Howe is the secretary-treasurer.

Six directors were also elected. They are Tom Russell, Cheryl Russell, Tom Prentice, Bill Dillon, Mickey Hamilton and Nancy Walker.

In addition, Neil Burk is the equipment manager and Shirley Walker will release game results.

The gift of life

The regular June Red Cross blood donors clinic will be held Wednesday, June 4 at the Victoria Park Armories in Lindsay. The hours for the clinic will be from 2:00 p.m. until 8:30 p.m.

According to The Red Cross, with summer holidays approaching, a good supply of blood is needed, particularly "O" negative.

Minden and area residents are urged to attend the June clinic on Wednesday, June 4 because the students from Sir Sanford Fleming College, who normally provide a great deal of support to the clinics, have left the area for the summer.

Police continue search

A police search of Horseshoe and Gull Lakes has failed to turn up any evidence regarding several possible drownings in both locations.

During the week the Ontario Provincial Police helicopter was called in to assist with the search. Hovering over the water gives observers an excellent vantage point to spot large objects below the surface. In both instances the helicopter searches drew a blank.

The police are looking for a snowmobiler, Robert Fulcher of Scarborough who is believed to have drowned in Gull Lake after his machine broke through thin ice January 27. The police are also searching for two youths who are believed to have drowned while out in a canoe on Horseshoe Lake May 18.

An inquest in the Fulcher drowning has been scheduled for June 26 in Minden. Dr. Blair Pierce, coroner, will preside.

First shoot Sunday

The Haliburton County Marksman Club's Anniversary Shoot will take place on Sunday June 8 at 2 p.m. at the Range, on Bobcaygeon Road 2 miles north of Minden.

The club executive has announced that the clubhouse which was donated by Dr. John Purc, has been moved to the Range. The job of moving the building was done by Junior Alton last week.

In addition, Mr. Jack Snell is the new rifle captain following the resignation of Mr. Jim Schlosser.

Members and the public are welcome at the shoot.

Lawn bowling returns to Curling Club

Indoor lawn bowling appears to be growing in popularity in Minden.

The local club opened its doors Monday evening for a get acquainted session and over 45 experienced and novice bowlers turned out to give the sport a try.

The game is being played again this year on carpeting laid down on the floor of the curling rink.

All during this week there will be open bowling at the club with those interested in how the game is played invited to come out and give it a try. Instructors will be on hand to demonstrate the rules and offer tips on good bowling form.

The local club held a general meeting late last month in preparation for the new season. An executive for the year was elected with the following people named to serve: Don Sinclair, president; Jim Burton, vice president; Helen Burton, secretary; Holly Cooper, treasurer; and directors James W. Burton, Al Stott, Alf Palmer, Percy Brintnell, Stan Blears, Ed Pettinger, Rowland Sedgwick, Lorne Coburn, Ev Rudd and Tom Hurtta.

The club is providing a social membership for senior citizens this year. Any senior wishing to enjoy the get togethers of the club and other activities, but not take part in the bowling, can be members by paying a $1 fee.

The fee for regular members is $12.50 for the year.

Anyone interested in taking part in the organization should contact Lorne Coburn (286-2484) before the end of the week or visit the club house. League bowling begins June 9.

Minden bowlers limber up for the 1980 season which begins June 9. Open bowling continues this week at the Curling Club.

Diefenbaker featured on new stamp issue

The new commemorative John Diefenbaker stamp will show a profile portrait on a rich blue background.

On June 20, 24 million 17-cent stamps will be issued by Canadian Bank Note Co. Ltd.

The design for the stamp which shows Canada's thirteenth Prime Minister was conceived by an Ottawa graphic artist, Bernard Reilander and the steel-engraved interpretation of Mr. Reilander's artwork was done by Yves Baril.

The first day covers will be cancelled in Saskatoon, the site of the stamp launch. The pictorial cancellation shows the top of the Peace Tower with the Canadian flag at half-mast.

To the left of the stamp and cancellation is the envelope cachet design which features the quotation "I am a Canadian, Je suis Canadien." This quote is from the House of Commons debates on the Bill of Rights. Beneath the quote is a reproduction of John Diefenbaker's signature.

The stamp launch will be held on the anniversary of John Diefenbaker's being named a member of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada in 1957, and one day before he became Prime Minister.

Springtime is a busy time of the year at Hyland Crest. The maintenance staff are working hard preparing the flower beds and the water fountain is now working. Our goldfish have wintered well and are now outside in the pond. I see we have one more than we did last year.

Monday we welcomed Mrs. Finnie Jenkins to our fun and fitness group. It is nice to have Finnie with us and we hope she will enjoy her new home. Later in the afternoon, several ladies went downstairs to work on their crafts. Last week, I mentioned that we have a new volunteer on Monday afternoon. Her real name is Kathy Gartshore.

Reverend Rick Brewster of the Allsaw Mission held an inspiring service in the chapel on Tuesday morning. Agnes Taylor played the organ for us while we sang some gospel hymns.

Wednesday morning, we welcomed our Activities Director, Doris Robertson back after a week's absence. Doris had minor surgery, but is feeling much better and we're happy to have her back.

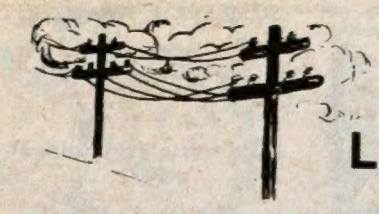
Thursday afternoon, the ladies of Gelert brough a lovely assortment of sandwiches and homemade goodies for the birthday tea. They presented our guests of honour with a decorated birthday cake and we all sang happy birthday. Special people celebrating their birthdays in May were Irene Stewart, Ida Schell, Marjorie Kanally, Mary Grozelle and Harry Robinson.

Grace Coburn was here on Friday afternoon to lead the sing song. Norma Barron came with her to play the piano. We all joined in with Grace to sing some old favorite hymns and songs.

We were pleased to view two very interesting films this week. "The Living Mountains" was a colourful movie filmed in the Andes Mountains. We saw life changes from the foothills to the top of the gigantic mountain. The scenery was beautiful and the residents particularly enjoyed the wildlife. The "Other Doctor" told a story of the difficulties getting a Medical Doctor in the small town of Ridge City U.S.A. Dr. Brian Woods, who is 31 years old, is now running a Cancer Clinic, and there are training courses offered in therapy and manipulations. This was a very interesting and informative film.

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome Mrs. Dorothy Martin to our home. We hope she will enjoy her stay here.

We are busy making arrangements for activities during Senior Citizen's week which is June 15 to 21. The Annual Over Seventies Dinner, which is for all people over seventy in Haliburton County will be held in Hyland crest auditorium on June 17 at 5:30 p.m. If any of my readers wish to attend, please call 286-2140 no later than June 13 for reservations.



Lines from Lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! I see by the paper we are to be infested with grasshoppers this year. What next!! Oh well, they say chocolate coated grasshoppers are a delicacy. Guess I won't eat chocolate for awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. Glyn Turner are at their cottage on Gull Lake for the summer.

Also up for the summer on the same lake is Mr. Morley Sparling. He is 89 years young and still active in a supervisory capacity in woodworking at a school. His cottage is on Delamere Island, and he has been coming up here for 50 years. On this island is a small train that Mr. Sparling has rigged up. The motor is from an old washing machine and the little car travels up the hill with his groceries, etc. onto a landing which makes it easier than carting things up the hill.

* * *

Mrs. Angus Coulter's eightieth birthday was Saturday, May 31st, last. There was a get together with her friends and family. Congratulations Mrs. Coulter.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunsford have gone to the city (Pickering) for a week.

Hey Kids! Come to Lutterworth Library and join our 'Smokey Bear Club'. There will be a graduation at the end of summer, with gifts etc.

Hint of the week

If by chance you have to iron any silk clothes, the iron will make your clothes cling to you. To stop this, as you iron rub a fabric softener sheet over the place you have just ironed - no static cling. even used sheets work.

* * *

Each morning look back upon your work of yesterday and then try to beat it.

* * *

Take it easy. Bye for now. God bless till next time.

JOHN DEERE

AROUND THE TOWN

by Jeanne Sears

Sunday afternoon relatives and friends visited Lydia Coulter at her home and enjoyed a luncheon and chat with her. It was the occasion of Lydia's eightieth birthday. The community joins in sending belated good wishes to her.

* * * * *

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Alice Robertson, Esther Thurston, Lorne Hogg, Charles Parrish and Garnet Kellett who died since last week.

* * * * *

Mary and Lyman Cox spent several days visiting the Ron Cox family and the Allan Cox family, all of Peterborough and the Goldie Hendersons of Roseneath.

* * * * *

The World Needs...

A little more kindness and a little less creed,
A little more giving and a little less greed;
A little more smile and a little less frown,
A little less kicking a man when he's down;
A little more "we" and a little less "I"
A little more laugh and a little less cry;
A few more flowers on the pathway of life,
And fewer on graves at the end of the strife.

There was a card party at the Orange Lodge Hall on May 26 with winners being, lone hands Gladys Wruth and Ruth Kellett, Verna McDonald, Bill Elcome and Harry Cowan. Mark the last Monday night in September, for that is the time these card games start again. After the games all enjoyed a social half hour and the delicious lunch served by the ladies.

All their friends send good wishes to Sam La Barge and Morgan Trumbull who were patients at the local hospital.

Gerald Coulter of Toronto and Emily and Leslie Coulter of Kirkfield were among the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Coulter last weekend.

* * * * *

This past weekend was rather a noisy one with all the thunderstorm activity. Here in Carnarvon we had hail, driving winds and torrents of rain several times. We certainly needed the rain as everything was very dry but there was a certain amount of destruction associated with the storms.

Muriel Brown of Brantford has spent the past week at the home of Doug and Claire Brown. She has been visiting with her many friends in the area.

Congratulations to Carolyn Kinsman who has graduated as a Dental Assistant from Durham College in Oshawa. Her family and friends helped her to celebrate by attending the graduation ceremony on May 24 and a dinner in her honour afterwards.

Maureen Rason and her daughter, Lindsay, from Ash, near Guildford, Surrey in England are visiting with Ken and Sheila Beatty of Hawk Lake for three weeks. This is their first visit to Canada and they are enjoying their stay here.

Glen Stamp of Oshawa and Glenda Stamp of Whitby have been visiting relatives recently.

* * * * *

There was a large crowd at the Auction Sale on Saturday at the Schmitt home with a cloud burst stopping sales for a while.

* * * * *

We all might have been a bit worried if we had known that our only Fire Protection was a few men, as our Natural Resources Staff and crews had gone to fight forest fires; at any rate our rains have done a world of good for lawns and gardens and for our neighbouring woods. We might still have frost, as they tell me this comes about June 10 so watch out and cover things if frost warning comes on the news.

* * * * *

The work done by the Horticultural Society and especially Amos Brubacher is surely outstanding; the hanging baskets (please don't steal them) the rock garden by the bridge, and one bed now spelling MINDEN, sure add to our peaceful scenery.

* * * * *

We note that the Rhodes Medical Centre has moved into the building nearly opposite the Beer Store and up the street from Cosy Cabins.

* * * * *

Mary Wright of Blantyre, Scotland arrived in our village to spend the summer with her daughter Susan Beers and family.

* * * * *

Some hoist the windows, gasp
for air,
While others find it chilly.
Some turn up thermostats a hair,
While others think them silly.
Some like it cold, some like it hot,
Some freeze, while others smother.
And by some fiendish, fatal plot
They marry one another.

Only coming event is the Bag Sale at St. Paul's Parish Hall, upstairs, June 6, from 2-4. Depends on how large is the bag, as to the cost of its contents.

The highways are busy on the weekends, so drive carefully. Cheerio until next time.
